

Professional Liability

ZAG has been at the heart of professional liability disputes for many years, and we act for directors, senior officers, lawyers, accountants, financial advisors and other professionals in all types of proceedings. Our lawyers combine a wealth of experience in risk assessment, knowledge of the insurance sector and the litigation skills to wage a professional and responsible defense of a wide range of civil claims and tackle administrative proceedings, disciplinary measures and governmental investigations. As such, many global insurance companies often rely on our international offices to defend their policyholders in claims relating to officers' liability, securities law or class action litigation.
