

Urban Renewal, Evacuation-Building and Reinforcement (TAMA 38)

The growing demand for housing and the reduced supply of vacant land in central areas have made urban renewal ever more relevant. ZAG advises on all types of urban renewal projects, including evacuation-building projects and TAMA 38, the national plan to reinforce buildings against potential earthquakes.

Clients benefit greatly from our firm's profound knowledge in this complex area, which requires a specific knowledge of the issues and trends in this unique real estate field.

We represent developers, tenants and housing committees on such projects from collecting owners' signatures, dealing with the authorities and planning committees for the approval of plans up until a project's completion.
