

Corporate and Securities-Related Disputes

ZAG litigation team provides legal assistance to position-holders and shareholders in high profile disputes when dealing with complexed issues related to corporate law and securities law, such as minority rights claims, control attempts and control disputes, derivative actions against position-holders and directors, securities-regulation disputes in public companies, etc.

Moreover, our US litigation team represents clients with respect to federal enforcement actions and internal investigations. Our US litigation team has extensive experience in jury trials, as well as hearing in the relevant authorities and decision makers, such as the SEC and others. Our international team works side-by-side with our litigation team and assists in developing the right strategy in various issues related to both Israeli and US securities.
